

Code of Conduct

All members should observe and promise not to violate the following rules and regulations:

1. Accept the Society's not-for-profit, apolitical, and non-discriminatory stand;
2. Contribute to the Society's inspiration to be an international centre for certification and assurance of ethical conduct and for exploring ethical theories in the cyberspace context;
3. Agree with the Society's cause for and pursuing a fair and just cyberspace;
4. Abide by the Society's demand of the highest professional and ethical standards , on or off duty;
5. Share and interchange the experience and knowledge of moral issues associated with the use and development of ICT-based systems in society, with fellow members locally and globally;
6. Support the Society's activities, and as far as possible participate in, and when necessary subscribe to, these activities.